

Dear Subway,

I'd like to extend my compliments about your restaurant, and the amazing service you provide. It's great to travel and always be able to count on a Subway to be around for delicious sandwiches.

That being said, I'd like to ask for your help. As a regular customer, I'm pleading with you to PLEASE sponsor one final season of the most amazing show, The Borgias, written by Neil Jordan. Unfortunately, it was canceled by Showtime last spring, just shy of its final season. It doesn't make sense to cancel a production if there're only 10 episodes left to finish the story.

I read that Subway had sponsored a season for the fans of the show Chuck! So, on behalf of the over 3 million worldwide fans of The Borgias, I ask that you please consider this request and sponsor our show too!!

A forever faithful customer.
